EDITORIAL

From the Editor

It is amazing how we have come to believe and live by the urban myth that things always happen in three's. Or is it really an urban myth? Is there perhaps some truth in it?

I cannot claim that all things in my life happen in three's, but often this is the case. Now you may wonder why I am on about the number three... well, March is the 3rd month of the year, isn't it? By now we have all settled into the 2016 groove, we are past the finance-pinching-recovering-from-Christmas-over-spending January, past the month of where we search out or confirm our love, well into establishing or forgetting those New Year's resolutions, and looking forward to the first break coming up in April.

I know that spiritually I can easily measure my walk with the Lord in roughly 3-month periods. While not a rule, or even consistent, when I look through my prayer journal it seems as if a 3-month cycle is recognizable. More often than not it is a simple shift in direction, or a fresh revelation, or merely some place of Divine discontent. I think it has something to do with the fact that we are created in the image of God, and therefore we are destined to be creative, ever-developing and ever-changing. I think the nature of the human spirit is destined to be changed constantly closer to the "ultimate image" – that of God. So enjoy the 3's in your life, because I think that more than we realize, God's hand is in it – molding, changing, chafing, skimming and polishing away the rough edges so that one day, like a superb diamond, we too can reflect the glory that He made us to carry.

So I wish you all a Merry March!

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?
Part 1

By André and Jenny Roebert

Few things can compare to the pleasure someone can experience from walking through and gazing upon a beautiful, fragrant garden. The peace and tranquillity one gets to experience can be more therapeutic than most have given it credit for. The trouble however, is that while everyone can enjoy a beautiful garden, not everyone can successfully create a beautiful garden! I have learnt from past experience that if you are unable to identify seedlings from weeds, you can end up throwing out what would make your garden delightful, and find yourself nurturing what would make it disastrous! Leaving you disappointed, disillusioned and garden less!

Just the same, the Bible, often likens our hearts and lives to gardens. With the correct amount of attention and care, our lives have the potential to produce magnificent gardens with spectacular beauty! There are numerous accounts, like the parable of the sower, where our hearts are likened to soil. Lives that are dependent on Christ and His Word, will see the soil of their hearts, having the potential to becoming soft, workable and nourished. These hearts are able to produce the most beautiful and useful gardens.

Abundant life in the midst of adversity

Perhaps what amazes me the most, is the fact that the Bible promises lives that resemble lush abundance and beauty in the midst of most adverse conditions. In the book of Jeremiah it speaks of a life that chooses to completely trust in the Lord as being like a tree that is planted near a stream of water. When that tree is exposed to tremendous heat, instead of it shrivelling, wilting or dying, it keeps being nourished and remains vital and productive. Psalm 1 uses the same type of imagery, saying that the tree will continue to bear fruit in and out of season, in good times and bad. Psalm 92, amongst others, speaks of lives that are fruitful and flourishing even while in old age! Mark 4 describes a life that embraces God and His Word, to being like a giant mustard tree that in spite of very small or insignificant beginnings, matured to provide shelter and protection to others.

Some of my favourite 'life to garden' imageries, are found in the book of Isaiah:

The Word of God clearly instructs us to be diligent in this regard. We are to keep guard over our minds and hearts and not allow worrisome, fearful thoughts to contaminate the soil of the gardens of our lives.

Isaiah 58:11, "And the Lord shall guide you continually and satisfy you in drought and in dry places and make strong your bones. And you shall be like a watered garden and like a spring of water whose waters fail not."

Isaiah 51:3, "For the Lord will comfort Zion; He will comfort all her waste places. And He will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the Lord. Joy and gladness will be found in her, thanksgiving and the voice of song or instrument of praise."

So, in spite of adverse or difficult circumstances, if the soil of our hearts is properly cared for, it will produce the exact abundant, fruitful life our Heavenly Father purposed it to produce, since the foundation of the world!

Sounds pretty wonderful doesn't it? However, if we don't learn to identify and recognise the weeds from the seedlings in the gardens of our lives, we are going to end up throwing away the very things that can cause us joy, beauty and success and end up spending all our time and effort nurturing the things that will destroy us!

I love the Word of God because it doesn't just explain the truth of our lives having the potential of becoming a magnificent, spectacular, beautiful garden. It teaches us how to recognise exactly what to throw out of our gardens and what to keep!

Those pesky, little life suckers, called weeds!

To begin with, let's learn to identify and deal with those pesky, little life suckers, called weeds! Even though some weeds appear to be harmless and even beautiful, they are dangerous invaders that are destined to suck the life source out of your garden and destroy your peace and joy. In the spiritual sense, the weeds in our lives, if not immediately dealt with, will strangle and choke the incorruptible seed of God's Word in our hearts and prevent it from producing life and faith. So we need to cast out these dangerous invaders that are designed to stop the flow of supernatural wisdom, power and peace in our lives.

Take a look at what 1 Peter 5 says about this very process of casting out the weeds from our lives!

1 Peter 5:7-10, "Casting the whole of your care [all your anxieties, all your worries, all your concerns, once and for all] on Him, for He cares for you affectionately and cares about you watchfully."

The Greek word for care used in this scripture is merimonia, implying worries and concerns. This very same word is used in the parable of the sower in Matthew 13:22, where it speaks about the "cares of this world...". Once again, the word cares here is from the Greek word merimonia, implying material worries and concerns that will choke, suffocate and strangle faith out of us. Note, it does not say the material things of this world will suffocate our faith, but rather the worry over not having these provisions will.

Then in Luke 21:34, we read again about the "cares of this life..."; the Greek translation referring to that same word, merimonia, except, this time it's connected to life - biotikos (biology). Meaning, the worry inflicted on us through the events or incidents in life that are troublesome, trying and difficult.

So, from studying the scripture, we can conclude that we are not to have anxious, worrying thoughts about the necessities and provisions in life or about material needs. We are not to worry or be anxious about any events or incidents in our lives, not even when we face troublesome, trying and difficult times!

Worry is a weed!

Worry is a weed that will most certainly choke the life and faith right out of our lives! That's why Peter says we are to waste no time in casting it right out of our lives and replacing it with the truth of God's Word!

Psalms 55:22 confirms this: "Cast your burden on the Lord [releasing the weight of it] and He will sustain you; He will never allow the [consistently] righteous to be moved (made to slip, fall, or fail)."

Keeping our lives free from worry is a very important part of tending the gardens of our lives. The more we spend time getting acquainted with the truth of God's Word, we are able to identify and differentiate between thoughts that are inspired by faith and thoughts inspired by fear.

The Word of God clearly instructs us to be diligent in this regard. We are to keep guard over our minds and hearts and not allow worrisome, fearful thoughts to contaminate the soil of the gardens of our lives. Be ever mindful of how your garden is growing. What a joy it will be to see how God's peace and love saturate every part of it, radiating His mercy and blessing. Happy gardening. ✠

Have a GREAT DAY

HOW TO FEEL LESS BUSY AND BE MORE FRUITFUL IN YOUR EVERYDAY LIFE

Are you one of the millions who feel constantly busy? Do you wake up thinking: I might as well stay in bed. There's no way I can get everything done! Obviously that's not a good way to live. God would much rather see you relaxed and confident in Him, peaceful and fulfilling your purpose in life. So if you're in a habit of feeling anxious and overwhelmed, I want to help you fix that.

You may think time is the problem—that there just isn't enough of it. But God gives everyone the same amount. We all have 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. I guess that's God's way of saying that's all the time we need to live a well-balanced life with plenty of time for work, rest and play.

Ecclesiastes 3:1 (AMPC) says, "To everything there is a season, and a time for every matter or purpose under heaven."

Instead of dreading that you don't have enough time, you can make the decision to have more wisdom with the way you spend your time.

You know, we spend time just like we spend money. When we spend it, it's gone, and we can't get it back. So we need to think about what we are spending it on and decide whether or not we are making the right choices.

No matter what's on your to-do list today, I want to encourage you to know God hasn't called you to be busy. He wants you to live purposefully and be fruitful.

And the secret to being fruitful is simply to have a close, personal relationship with God.

John 15:5 (AMPC) says, "I am the Vine; you are the branches. Whoever lives in Me and I in him bears much (abundant) fruit. However, apart from Me [cut off from vital union with Me] you can do nothing."

No matter what you have to do to make time with God your top priority, you are never going to regret doing it. There is absolutely no better way to spend your time than to pray and study God's Word. It will bring you peace, joy, confidence, wisdom and understanding. You'll be encouraged. You can be healed. There's just no end to the good things that can happen in your life when you put God first.

You may have to wake up extra early or stay up later at night, but I encourage you to set aside time daily to spend with God. And when you do, listen for His voice. One reason people feel pressured and under so much stress is that they're listening to every voice around them except the voice of God.

Matthew 11:28-29 (AMPC) says, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy-laden and overburdened, and I will cause you to rest. [I will ease and relieve and refresh your souls.] Take My yoke upon you and learn of Me, for I am gentle (meek) and humble (lowly) in heart, and you will find rest (relief and ease and refreshment and recreation and blessed quiet) for your souls."

Even Jesus spent time alone with God before He went out into the world to do ministry, and He only did what God put before Him to do. He didn't let other people determine His schedule. If we will do the same, then our lives can be peaceful and purposeful as well as fruitful.

Are you living purposefully or just being busy? Have you ever had a day when you were busy all day long but couldn't tell what you accomplished at the end of it? We don't have to live that way.

God wants to encourage us through His Word to live as people of purpose, making the most of the time we're given.

John 15:8 (AMPC) says, "When you bear (produce) much fruit, My Father is honored and glorified, and you show and prove yourselves to be true followers of Mine."

Following God can sometimes sound like a huge, impossible task. But you can be a great witness for God just by being productive and resting in His presence as you go about your daily life.

When you feel like you've lost your balance again and things are getting busy, don't just drag yourself through the day. Make time with God your priority. He will give you the strength you need to live each day with peace and purpose as you accomplish everything He's calling you to do. 📌

ACTION, PROMPT AND VIGOROUS

BY ANGUS BUCHAN

I read in my quiet time just the other day about the importance of being ready for the move of God's Holy Spirit. If we look at 2 Samuel 5:24 (NKJV), The Word of God says, "And it shall be, when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the mulberry trees, then you shall advance quickly. For then the Lord will go out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." Jesus is the Master of the wind and He is the maker of the rain. I experienced that personally with 5000 delegates from all over the world at in Ein Gedi, at the Dead Sea, at the place where David was hiding from King Saul. It was an evening meeting and we called upon the Lord to bring revival and a mighty rushing wind came through that meeting, and it started raining on the lowest point on earth. An absolute miracle, to say the least.

Our action must be prompt and it must be vigorous. We cannot determine the wind and we cannot make the rain, but what we can do is to put the sail up on our boat, so that when the wind comes it will blow and fill that sail, and take us onto our destination. Walking close with God requires holiness in our behaviour. The Lord is moving very quickly in the earth these days. He has to, because we are coming to the climax of this world. People are asking me in the street, "How much worse must it get?" Jesus reminded us, when you see these signs in the world, know that My coming is imminent. He tells us not to be afraid. In fact in John 16:33 (NKJV), Jesus says, "These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will[a] have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

What we need to do, is we need to be listening, we need to be ready for the rustling in the treetops, and then we need to advance quickly, and to do whatever the Holy Spirit calls us too. For me I am very excited about what the future holds, not only for my life and for my family, but for the nation and for the world. However, I am being very sensitive to the leading of God's Holy Spirit. I am not just going anywhere, at everybody's beck and call. I am only going where God tells me to go. I'm only doing what God tells me to do and I am believing that I'm going to be more effective in my senior years than I ever was in my junior years.

When I was a young man I ran here and I ran there, trying to make an effect. Often it amounted to nothing, because the Holy Spirit was not in it. Now like a wise old fisherman I raise the sail of my boat and I wait patiently for the wind (Holy Spirit) to fill the sail. Once that happens, then I act promptly and vigorously, and I know that my journey is conducted by the power of the Holy Spirit.

As you would wait patiently to hear the sound of marching on the tops of the mulberry trees, be ready, because I can tell you right now that the Lord is on the move.

May God bless you as you continue to act promptly and vigorously as the Holy Spirit will redirect you. Remember William Carey, the founder of the Baptist Union (He took the Gospel of Jesus Christ into India), he said "We must attempt great things for God and expect great things from God." This is our time, Christian, let us not be sleeping when the wind comes, but let our sail be fully extended and waiting.

God bless ✠

ARE YOU COMMITTING ADULTERY WITH YOUR CALLING?

BY PHIL COOKE

Last year I was invited to speak at the Born to Win leadership conference at Impact Church in Jacksonville. The pastor of Impact is George Davis, who's a very influential leader, and one to keep your eye on for the future. At the conference, the other speaker Pastor Davis invited was Sean Moore, pastor of Faith Christian Center in Phoenix. Sean's message was brilliant. He asked an unusual question:

Are you committing adultery with your vision, purpose, and calling?

What an insightful concept! For so many of us, we feel we have a purpose or calling, and yet at numerous times in our career we "cheat." We dabble with this or that – mostly out of insecurity or fear. But if you're trying to achieve "mastery" of your skill or creative calling, monogamy with that calling is absolutely essential. Sean used the illustration of Jesus when He taught on pruning. Today we face far more options, activities and distractions, so it's harder than ever to focus. But if we're going to be truly creative leaders, then it's time to prune a few things and focus on the dream you feel called to accomplish.

I'll leave you with two other thoughts from Sean:

1. Stick with your idea long enough to make it happen. I can't tell you how many clients I've worked with over the years who have bailed just before they might have succeeded. They're not willing to spend time in the trenches, working at their craft until it's ready. But the bigger the dream, the longer it often takes to happen.
2. You'll never be able to fulfil your calling if you're not willing to be misunderstood. I've spent too much time in my life being a "people pleaser." One of my great regrets is that I wish I had been more willing to stick to my guns no matter what others thought. In my desire to make everyone happy, I believe I damaged the possibilities of what I could have accomplished with my life.

WHATEVER YOU WANT TO BE: START ACTING LIKE IT

BY PHIL COOKE

Whatever you want to be in life – novelist, filmmaker, artist, pastor, leader, whatever – there's one piece of advice I'd give you: Start acting like it. Too many people spend years waiting for their opportunity, while successful people step out and do it now. Sure you may not have funding in place, school isn't finished, you haven't left your day job, or haven't picked the right project. But I've discovered that everything changes when you start the interior process of being that person.

Is it a lie? Absolutely not. After all, what makes you a novelist, filmmaker, or anything else? There's no certificate needed, and you certainly don't need a license. You just need to start thinking like one. And when you do, here's what happens:

- Suddenly you stop daydreaming and start doing.
- You change your priorities.
- Your confidence grows, and you become less afraid to network and find mentors.
- You get serious.
- Other people notice the change and begin taking your dream more seriously.

There's nothing magic about it – it's just an attitude change that impacts everything and everyone around you. Whatever it is you want to be, stop hiding, lose the fear, embrace the role, and flip the switch. You're now a writer, filmmaker, pastor, leader, musician, artist, or whoever. So start acting like it... 🗡️

Lessons

From

ANGRY BIRDS

BY WALDO MALAN

I have been playing the mobile game, Angry Birds, for about two years now. It may be longer, but I cannot really be sure. Since my first pull on the slingshot to eradicate one of those pesky little pigs I was hooked. Currently I am busy studying, analysing, strategizing and working on perfecting the levels in Angry Birds 2™, the latest addition to the stable of games from the developers Rovio.

It was during one of the levels that I suddenly made a weird connection between the game and my own spiritual walk. The more I thought about it, the more I started making connections that seem to reflect my daily struggle with piglets that pop up all over the place.

For those of you not familiar with the game, allow me to give you a brief introduction. The basic strategy of the game is that the player gets a number of birds that are launched by way of a slingshot to kill off pigs of all shapes and sizes that are hiding behind walls of stone, glass and wood. Some of the pigs are clever and try to escape by way of air balloons or umbrellas. One also finds really huge pigs (chief pigs) that will require two or more direct hits from a bird to eventually be "popped!"

Each player gets different birds with different abilities: there is Red who has an awesome loud shout that can topple complex structures, Chuck with some super-speed abilities to crash through wood, Matilda who lays an explosive egg, Terrence whose strength lies in his size and can bulldoze just about through anything, the Bluebird triplets – Jay, Jake and Jim – who combines their abilities threefold, the exploding Blackbird who is a flying time bomb, Hal can reverse in mid-flight like an ace aviator, Bubbles who balloons up, pushing obstacles and threats aside when threatened, and lastly, the Mighty Eagle, who can clear every single pig in a mighty swoop!

The player must use the birds strategically, aiming an accurate trajectory by launching the birds from a slingshot to kill off the pigs.

I think by now most of you have already seen the spiritual metaphor emerge just by looking at the game. We often quote the famous portion out of Paul's letter to the Ephesians in which he describes the spiritual weapons at the disposal of believers. Let us pause briefly here and look at the description given to those who follow Christ: believers. It may seem like common sense, but a 'believer' must 'believe!' A belief is simply confidence in the truth or existence of something not immediately susceptible to rigorous proof. This means that even in the face of vigorous opposition or different opinions, a personal belief is unshakable. Therefore, if one is labeled as a 'believer' then in our spiritual context it means that Christ is immutable and unshakable.

Now, a result of a believer's belief is an arsenal of spiritual weapons to help protect and preserve that belief – and the basic tenet of this belief is that Jesus is the Son of God and the Way and Door to the Creator Father. The most aggressive opposition to this belief comes from the chief enemy of God, Satan, who will use every sneaky strategy to infuse disbelief and doubt into the life of a believer. Since Satan is not omniscient or omnipresent, he employs other spirits in his army to assist him in spreading doubt, fear, hopelessness and despair. I never realized just how strong a competitive spirit I had until I tackled Angry Birds 2! Usually, playing games are meant to be relaxing and a 'time-out' from reality – in essence a simple means of escape from the doldrums of life. However, in my attempts to blast those little green pigs off the face of the game, I often find my blood pressure rising and my heart beating faster!

A Field Guide to Angry Birds

Games that lodge in the brain often have comical stars

The chubby white bird drops an egg bomb when players tap the screen after launching the creature from the slingshot.

Black birds act as bombs, which explode once they've landed on a target, obliterating pigs and buildings around them.

The first avian missile players encounter when they start the game, the red bird follows a simple trajectory when launched.

The blue bird splits into three smaller versions in mid-air when the screen is tapped.

Tapping the screen after launching the yellow bird gives the critter a speed boost that makes it more deadly.

The green bird turns into a boomerang that doubles back to strike targets in otherwise protected locations.

The big red bird is a flying wrecking ball that causes more damage than his smaller red cousin.

Often I will replay a level simply to see if I can work out a new strategy to more efficiently and quickly rid myself of the horrible sounds of pigs laughing! In the older version of the game each level was presented the same way each time, however, in version 2.0 each time the level is played the layout changes with the pigs in different places and in different sizes! Just like life, and just like every day we have to face, pigs can be lurking anywhere to foil our attempts at success.

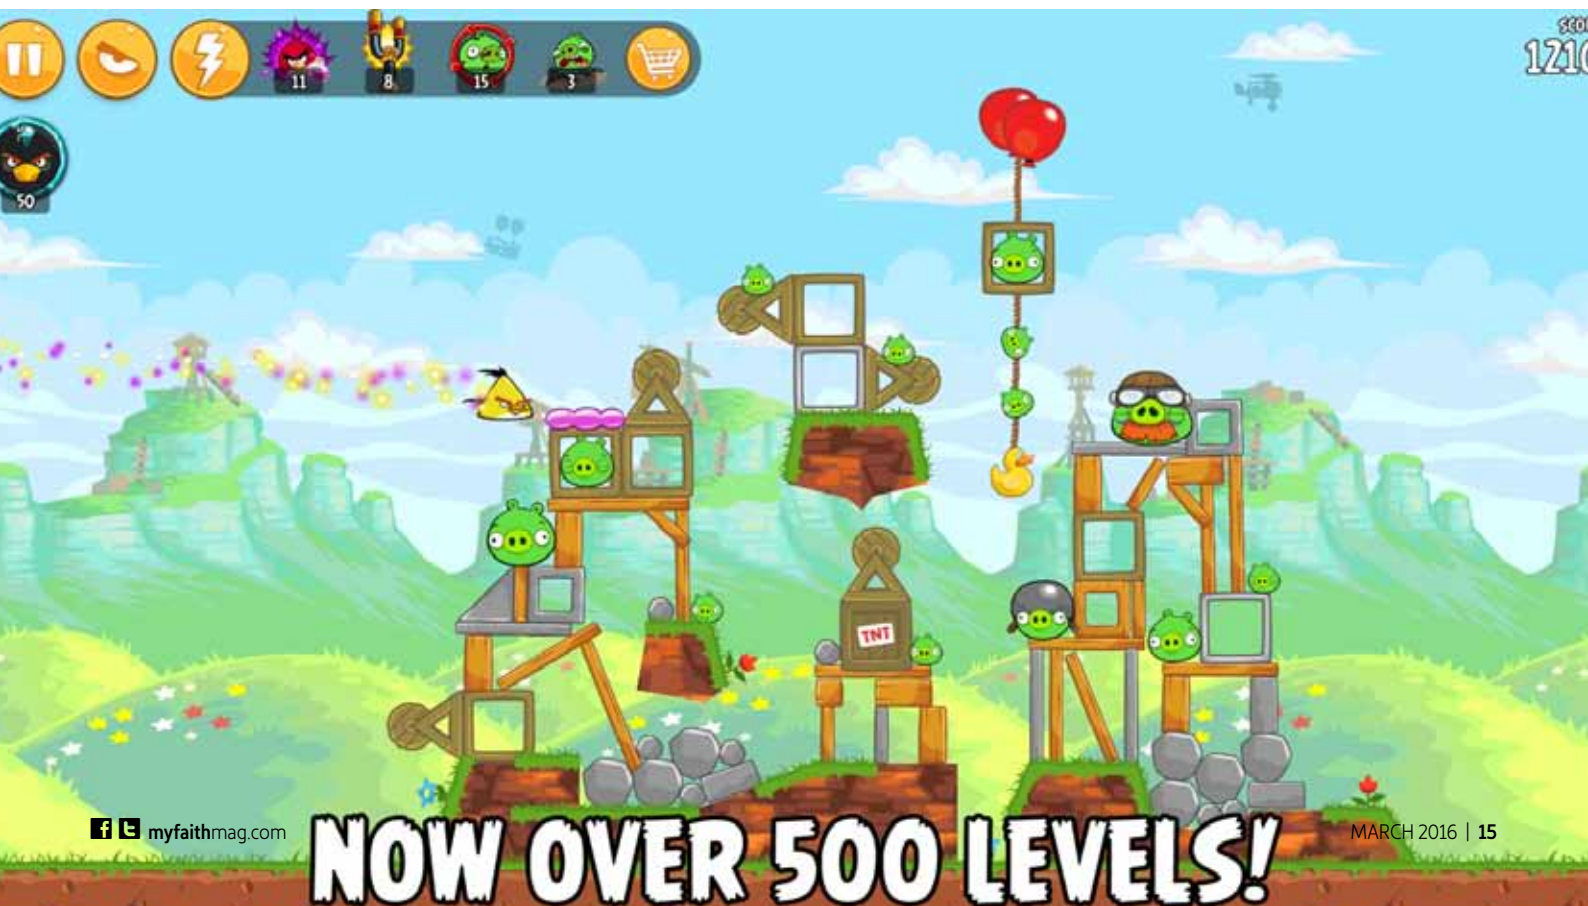

A king pig is a character of another kind. Huge, monstrous and ugly, this character requires extreme skill from the player with multiple hits and ultimately a kick into an abyss to get rid of completely. Indeed a stronghold of note!

So I would like to encourage everyone to dust off the letter to the Ephesians, especially the part listing the spiritual arsenal available to believers, and employ these daily to kill off some pigs (Ephesians 6: 10-18). When all else fails and every bird is spent, call in the help of the Might Eagle who will whoosh away all opposition! Also know, that in strengthening our belief, we too can become like the Mighty Eagle (Isaiah 40:31).

Every game we play will require some practice to increase and ultimately perfect our skill at every level. Every game we play, if played by the rules of the developer, can be beat/won and will give a reward at the conclusion. Let us decide today that we will also play the game of life according to the rules of the developer! If we claim to be believers, then our life become Life, and the strategies for success are pre-programmed in our 'game' and waiting to be discovered. When played with skill and accuracy, our success is guaranteed by the Creator, despite some moments during the game where we fail a level or two, or our blood pressure rises, or where we become despondent. Follow the rules and become a believing overcomer!

Anyone ready for a game of Angry Birds? 🐔

ON THE FRONTLINES OF FAITH

SERVING THE PERSECUTED CHURCH

—by Open Doors SA

The ministry of Open Doors began when a young, Dutch, newly converted Christian, Andrew van der Bijl, was invited to a Polish Youth Festival in 1955. Other than a change of clothes and linen, his bag was filled with Christian literature for believers in Warsaw. What he found behind the Iron Curtain was a Church in desperate need of support and Bibles. It was in this moment that God spoke to Brother Andrew, as he is best known, through the words of Revelation 3:2, "Awake, strengthen what remains, which is at the point of death..."

Under Brother Andrew's leadership, Open Doors has gone, and today, 60 years later, still goes, where very few Western Christians dare to go. "I think we in the West, now this is a personal confession, I think we are cowards. We want a personal profit to come first and if that is at risk, we don't do anything. We ought to become people of guts, courage and strong convictions and [shouldn't] count our lives dear unto ourselves, if only we can fulfil the high calling of God on our lives. That's what I'm after," says Brother Andrew.

THE PERSECUTED CHURCH TODAY

An estimated 100 million Christians worldwide suffer interrogation, arrest and even death for their faith in Christ. Christians like Seema* who at age 11 was driven away by her family because she accepted Jesus. Ever since then she has had to survive virtually on her own, but recently received support from Open Doors to expand her tiny shop. "I am selling many grocery items now, and my business is running very well. I praise God for all His provisions."

Open Doors supports and strengthens many believers in the world's most difficult areas, enabling them to continue shining Christ's light in their families and communities. We do this through Bible and Christian literature distribution, leadership training and assistance, Christian community development, prayer and presence ministry and advocacy on behalf of persecuted believers.

THE OPEN DOORS WORLD WATCH LIST

The Open Doors World Watch List highlights the top 50 countries where it is most difficult to live as a Christian. The list reports that persecution became more intense in more parts of the world in 2015. While North Korea remains the most difficult place in the world to be a Christian, persecution is growing most rapidly in Africa, especially sub-Saharan Africa. In the Middle East, Islamic State violence in Iraq and Syria has increased the pace of the exodus of the Christian population from the region and is also having, as news headlines daily testify, a global impact.

In the 60 years since Brother Andrew's first mission trip, the world has changed. Radical and violent Islamism has taken over from Communism as the main source of Christian persecution. What the Open Doors World Watch List highlights is the plea of Christians being persecuted in Muslim dominant countries, which was unheard of in 1955. What does remain the same in 2015, as in 1955, is that many continue to witness the Gospel spreading even amidst martyrdom and struggle. (Visit www.opendoors.org.za/eng/wwl for more.)

YOU CAN JOIN OPEN DOORS IN SERVING THE PERSECUTED CHURCH

Most recently, in one year, Open Doors delivered over two million Bibles and pieces of Christian literature to persecuted believers. We served over 200 000 Christians in need and trained over 250 000 believers in the persecuted Church so that they in turn can continue to advance God's Kingdom where faith costs the most. And our mission continues.

Jesus told his disciples that "In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world (John 16:33)." Since Jesus' ascension His Church has indeed faced much trouble and persecution. Although the forms of persecution have changed throughout the ages, and will continue to change, one thing remains the same: the mission that Open Doors and the worldwide Church is called for, "Awake strengthen what remains which is at the point of death..." As Brother Andrew says, "It's what Jesus told the disciples to do... He who spared not His only Son but gave Him up for us all, how shall He not freely give us all things, including guts..."

THREE QUESTIONS

When parents are faced with the agonizing questions of, “Can I do anything about the predicament we have in education?” or, “How can I take control of the daily anguish we experience in the school day of our child?” or, “My child is not thriving, my child is cutting himself out of desperation in school,” then I suggest they honestly answer three questions asked in this article followed by a bold step of action.

There is no need that parents torment themselves daily with feelings of powerlessness when a child, at an institution for learning, is not learning at all, or even worse, when the child is actually hurting and spiralling down into deep depression and bleakness.

Angie Motshekga, the Minister for Basic Education, has called South Africa’s education system a “national catastrophe” and a “crisis” (ewn.co.za/Topic/Minister-Angie-Motshekga). The family-affirming United Nations Convention document on the Rights of the Child, which is now 24 years old, states that “the family has the primary responsibility for the nurturing and protection of children and that children, for the full and harmonious development of their personality, should grow up in a family environment and in an atmosphere of happiness, love and understanding.”

It further states that “the family, as the fundamental group of society and the natural environment for the growth and well-being of all its members and particularly children, should be afforded the necessary protection and assistance so that it can fully assume its responsibilities within the community” (ohchr.org).

In the light of this parents should answer three essential questions:

1. It is not time that as parents we stand up for our values?
2. Do we know the design of the child and are we acting in the interest of the child?
3. Are we making the mental shift to change our approach in the education of our child so that he or she can be assured of a job in this country?

Let us do a quick test: imagine three empty glasses that you need to fill as far as possible with positive answers to the questions above. If your glass turns up empty it will serve as a sure warning that your child will stand empty handed and hoping for a job by school leaving age, having only a worthless matric certificate or degree paper, and a statistic as one of the more than 25% unemployed in South Africa.

The Question of Values

God has always intended the family (the first institution He created on earth) to be responsible for growing people – a husband and wife get married and have children that grow up in a safe environment and learn by example how to follow God’s commandments and to lay themselves down sacrificially to serve others. As a young adult, then part of the next generation, they will leave home and enter into the world to study and work, affecting all spheres of life, whether in business, government, media, arts and entertainment, education, family or religion.

A single child, godly or ungodly, has either a constructive or a devastating effect on his or her milieu, and can shape the course of a whole community or nation.

Parents who are passionate about their role as true educators, consider this task of growing people as their main responsibility to God; hence they protect this value when threatened in its ‘outworking.’ Parents rightfully choose to rather home educate their children or start smaller learning centres for the sake of not sacrificing Godly influence and values.

Design and Destiny

The question to ask is simple: Will the learning environment of my uniquely designed child assist in bringing him or her into the destiny God has intended. Solomon instructs, “Train up the child the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it” (Proverbs 22:6).

According to the South African Constitution a child has “The right to education ... (which is) the right to develop all aspects of the human personality to its fullest extent.” Parents have the responsibility to see to, and even fight and advocate for this right. When a learning environment or authority figure cannot celebrate the child, it is merely tolerating them and this will have a remarkable effect on the child's sense of belonging, worthiness and competence. In turn this will affect the outcome and performance of this child as an adult. Bessel Van Der Kolk, in his article The Body keeps the Score: Brain, mind and Body in the Healing of Trauma writes, "Children's brains are literally shaped by traumatic experiences, which can lead to problems with anger, addiction, and even criminal activity in adulthood. Negative childhood experiences can set out brains to constantly feel danger and fear" (sideeffects-publicmedia.org).

IT IS MY OPINION THAT CHILDREN UP TO THE AGE OF 14 SHOULD KEEP THEMSELVES 80% OCCUPIED WITH WHAT THEY ARE GOOD AT AND DO MUCH LESS TRADITIONAL LEARNING.

Parents need to ensure their children are nurtured into the destiny that God has for them even if it costs them their comfort. Interestingly, children who are recognised and celebrated for who they are, and channelled into their giftedness, prosper. "Children whose parents blessed their children tend to prosper in their adult lives, and children whose parents never blessed them tend to languish (suffer)" (Craig Hill – familyfoundations.com).

Relevant Education

Is the education my child is receiving relevant for the times we are living in? Will my child have an opportunity for further studies and have a job to provide an income? These questions are key, especially when parents, who have done all the right things labouring for twelve years of schooling, are faced with the painful reality that there exist no opportunities for their children after school, even with a degree in the hand. The unemployment figures for 2014 stand at 5,5 million, the most since 2008 (Source: Statistics South Africa 2014). More recently Mduduzi Manana (South African Deputy Minister of Higher Education) commented, "There are 600 000 unemployed graduates in this country and if the number increase, it will cause chaos" (news24.com/news24/SouthAfrica/News/beware-varsity-degrees-that-will-leave-you-unemployable-manana-20160202). It is very clear that parents need to make a huge mental shift in ensuring that their children are better equipped for life.

It is my opinion that children up to the age of 14 should keep themselves 80% occupied with what they are good at and do much less traditional learning. I also have proof that where young people have done this they have proven to be better equipped for life in general.

Reading, writing and maths are important, but the following is more important:

- Critical thinking and problem solving
- Creativity and innovation
- Collaboration and teamwork; leadership and responsibility
- Cross-cultural and social understanding
- Communications, Information, and media literacy
- Computing and ICT literacy
- Being a self-worker, self-reliant, and self-directed

The most sought after characteristics in any person should be:

- Innovation
- Entrepreneurship
- Flexibility
- Risk-Taking

With these qualities present, then, even if there is no job available, young people will start their own businesses and become job-creators for themselves and others. "Creativity is as important in education as literacy and we should treat it with the same status." (Sir Ken Robinson, international creativity expert, 2006). Is your creative child being celebrated, or are they being administered medication such as Ritalin or Concerto for 'misbehaviour'?

It seems as if politicians in our country are starting to recognise the problem and are encouraging young people to be trained differently. Deputy Higher Education Minister Mduzuzi Manana commented recently, "Young people should stop pursuing university degrees that would result in them joining the list of unemployed graduates... If we don't have [an artisan qualification], the rate of unemployment will be higher. Some learners are pursuing a university degree which is not marketable and they end up joining the unemployed because of lack of career counselling... We have 134 artisan trades [and] we have recruited more than 1 000 artisans from Thailand because we don't have enough in our country. There is a demand for artisans in SA, but there is no demand for lawyers." Manana said an artisan was a person who had been certified as competent to perform a listed trade, in accordance with the Skills Development Act, including bricklayers, electricians, millwrights, boilermakers, plumbers, fitters and turners, plasterers, welders and pipe fitters."

"An important consideration... is to choose careers that are on the scarce and critical list, since they are the ones in short supply and highly needed in the industry sectors"

(news24.com/news24/SouthAfrica/News/beware-varsity-degrees-that-will-leave-you-unemployable-manana-20160202).

Parents need to make a huge shift, which I call it the 43 Shift. This is a shift from 'head' to 'heart' where 43 indicates the approximate measurement in centimetres from the head to the heart. This 'shift' in the way things are done encourages parents to be more in touch with the heart and the passion of the child. Parent must provide a learning context and tools where these passions can be developed. Parents should trust their own hearts as God has linked the heart of the parent with the child in a very specific way so that children can be loved and nurtured into adulthood. It is actually a simple task - a supernatural task, a privilege and a challenge - doable with God's grace. 📌

Dynamis empowers parents to take up their roles as main educators, to stand up for their values, to fight for the design of a child and to make a shift for a different and better education. Make the shift, a 43 shift. More information at dynamislearning.co.za

ROOF PROJECT UPDATE

Tuesday 9 February 2016
DAY 315

DAY 319: An article in the local newspaper on the progress of the project

In May 2015 the R30 million Faith Dome Project commenced with great excitement. This was the result of many prayers and the clarification of God's vision for the future of Faith Broadcasting Family of Networks. As much as the team were in prayer and interceding fervently, faithful partners all over the world rallied in support.

The budget is currently 8,61% short of the final goal that translates to R 2 582 600 only! The team of Faith Broadcasting is extremely privileged to have so many like-minded people at their side and is honoured to call them friends! We praise God for such faithful partners. There are daily calls and emails from people all over the world who are pledging support, both in prayer and finances, for the project. We know that God commands His blessing where there is unity, and so together and united we believe to see the entire renovation completed on time.

DAY 319: Seating structure taking shape

As we post this update to you, the construction teams are busy dismantling the remainder of the old roof, where soon the side beams will be erected. The seven centre beams are proudly arching over the space where soon the gospel will be televised from the new Studio A. Side supports guard the outside of the structure like sentinels on guard, and the crew are in the process of fixing the outer gutters in place. The towering arches are changing the skyline of East London! Already we are hearing people talk about the new dome, and we have a great opportunity to share the testimony of the goodness of God with them.

We can bear testimony to the fact that God always provides necessary resources when He gives a vision to accomplish anything for His Kingdom. Our vision is plain and simple - Go out and train everyone you meet, far and near, in this way of life, marking them by baptism in the threefold name: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Then instruct them in the practice of all I have commanded you (Matthew 28:19-20 MSG). This is the exact mandate of Faith Broadcasting Network and its partners! Thank you again for heeding the voice of Christ and partnering with us to make this commission a reality. Thank you for your continued support of this vision in prayer and finances - we value your partnership greatly! To give you some practical insight into the timeline of the project, and also to help you pray specifically for each stage in this phase of the development, here is an anticipated timeline (we will keep updating you with the latest news as the plans unfold!

Is it possible to beat the odds and make a movie unlike anything ever done before? Or, will they lose everything in the process?

Two unknown producers struggle to fulfil their dreams to change lives through the power of film. With millions of investors' dollars on the line, everything starts to fall apart and they realize they may be in over their heads.

Could they change the world—before the world changes them? Filmmakers Chase Ryan and Keith Ellison left the mission field of Indonesia for the mission field of Hollywood with a dream bigger than both of them. Now they have done the impossible: raised enough money to produce a feature film with a message that could change the world. But as Chase and Keith begin shooting, their well-laid plans begin to unravel. With millions of dollars on the line, they make a desperate attempt to keep the film from falling apart—even as a temperamental actress, a botched production schedule, and their own insecurities leave little room for the creative and spiritual passion that once motivated them. Was God really behind this movie after all? A chance meeting and friendship with John Baxter could bring the encouragement they need to stay on mission and produce a movie that will actually change people's lives. In the midst of the questions and the cameras, is it possible to keep things above the line and make a movie unlike anything done before—or is the risk too great for everyone?

Welcome to the front lines. Everywhere we turn, battle lines are being drawn—traditional marriage vs. gay marriage, pro-life vs. pro-choice, personal freedom vs. governmental protection. Seemingly overnight, culture has shifted to the point where right and wrong are no longer measured by universal truth but by popular opinion. And as difficult conversations about homosexuality, abortion, and religious liberty continue to inject themselves into our workplaces, our churches, our schools, and our homes, Christians everywhere are asking the same question: How are we supposed to respond to all this?

In Counter Culture, New York Times bestselling author David Platt shows Christians how to actively take a stand on such issues as poverty, sex trafficking, marriage, abortion, racism, and religious liberty—and challenges us to become passionate, unwavering voices for Christ. Drawing on compelling personal accounts from around the world, Platt presents an unapologetic yet winsome call for Christians to faithfully follow Christ into the cultural battlefield in ways that will prove both costly and rewarding. The lines have been drawn. The moment has come for Christians to rise up and deliver a gospel message that's more radical than even the most controversial issues of our day.

We all love the benefits of technology and social media, but even with the incredible upsides, many of us suspect there are unintended negative consequences that are beyond our control. We've lost perspective, even perhaps ourselves.

In this relevant and life-changing new book, New York Times bestselling author and pastor of Life-Church.tv Craig Groeschel encourages readers who are hungry to regain control over their lives and put Christ first again. He walks them through biblical values that all Christ followers know are essential, but are even more important for the maxed out, selfie-centered world we live in.

The more you compare, the less satisfied you are. The more we interact online, the more we crave face to face intimacy, but the harder it is to have. The more filtered our lives become, the harder it is to be authentic. The more information about the pain in the world we're exposed to the more difficult it is to care.

It's time to refresh and rediscover our understanding for today's world the biblical principles that life with Christ brings: contentment, intimacy, authenticity, compassion, rest and more. Groeschel taps some of the most up to date studies on the effects of social media on our emotions and our friendships, and shows us through real-life illustrations how we struggle and how we can overcome our struggles with Jesus' life-changing gospel message.

With helpful appendices like the 10 Commandments of Using Social Media to Strengthen Your Faith, a challenge to go on Technology Fasts, and Creating Safeguards for Your #Struggles, you'll find #Struggles to be just the guide to bring balance and real-life engagement to your everyday living.

Hello boys and girls

BY ESTHER SAUNDERS

Dear Lord Jesus,
thank You for keeping be safe and secure. Help me to continually keep my focus and abide in You so that I may always be protected.
Amen

Our Daddy got a new job in a different city and we have had to move. Over the school holidays Mommy and Daddy found a new house for us to stay in and enrolled us at a new school. We were very sad to leave our old neighbourhood and friends but we were also very excited about our new adventure. It's like Daddy and Mommy always say, "We are in this together".

On the 3rd of January we loaded all the packed boxes on the trailer and we followed the truck with all our furniture to our new neighbourhood. As we were driving I felt a sense of fear. What if I don't like my new room or my new school? What if I don't have any friends?

Mommy immediately noticed that I looked worried and a little bit sad. She asked why I felt this way and what she could do to help me feel better. As we continued on our journey Mommy began to tell me the story of Moses and how his mother put him in a basket and into the river to protect him from being murdered. She explained that at that time Pharaoh was trying to destroy God's people. Pharaoh's daughter found Moses and adopted him, she raised him in the palace as her own child. Mommy explained that Moses didn't fit in, he even stuttered, but God had a great purpose for Moses. God was with Him from the beginning. Moses would lead God's people out of slavery and toward the Promised Land. God used Moses to demonstrate and show Pharaoh His mighty power through the 10 plagues and this ultimately led to Pharaoh letting God's people go.

Mommy explained that in the most difficult and scary situations, we are not alone. God is with us. His Holy Spirit is within us to help us through the challenges of life, just like He helped Moses. Just think about it, if God could help Moses lead His people out of slavery I'm sure God can help us through life's obstacles.

The Bible says in John 14:26 (AMP) "But the [a]Helper (Comforter, Advocate, Intercessor—Counsellor, Strengtheners, Standby), the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name [in My place, to represent Me and act on My behalf], He will teach you all things. And He will help you remember everything that I have told you."

We are definitely not alone. So don't feel sad or overwhelmed. Just talk to God and ask Him to help you. ✦

She is diagnosed with a rare blood disease and is dying. Sheri goes into denial and rebels, causing turmoil, pain and anguish for herself and her father. Vince has the biggest challenge of his life; keeping her close to God, helping her live out her dream before dying, counseling her and trying to soften her heart toward God because she is feeling betrayed.
