FROM THE EDITOR

WALDO MALAN

The next sentences I write are going to fit securely into the “old-fashioned” or “square” mould, but so be it. Some time back I was sitting with my wife next to a cosy fireplace in the dining room of the Tsitsikamma Lodge, when another couple, that were also visiting, joined us. While we were having the kind of introductory conversations that strangers tend to have, I couldn’t help but be distracted by the lady’s attire. To my mind, I was having a conversation with someone wearing only a pair of pantyhose and t-shirt, which made me distinctly uncomfortable. It was as if I had invaded the privacy of another woman’s bedroom! When I talked about it to my wife after the couple had left, she told me that this was apparently the latest fashion, that it wasn’t called pantyhose (or stockings) but “leggings” with a loose-fitting shirt. She had also noticed that especially younger girls were sporting this new fashion, and some with “barely-covering-the-essentials shirts” and “next-to-sheer leggings”. One thing’s was for sure, if either my wife or daughter arrived in their underwear to go out the house, I wasn’t going to allow them. (And no, I am not a male chauvinist).

I am telling you this story, not to make an uninformed judgment, neither to start an anti-leggings petition or anti-fashion blog. Fashion has been with us for as long as man have sinned, and the cycle seems to be going full-circle with us all having started out running around naked in our gardens. Over the centuries fashion has evolved from fig leaves, to animal skin, through various permutations of trousers, dresses, shirts, shoes and, of course, the ever-present accessories.

In my lifetime, men’s fashion have evolved from stovies (tight fitting trousers and t-shirts) to bell-bottoms, to normal fit, to the holy-look-bottom-peeking, to the loose-fit, to the extra loose-fit-please-show-me-the-top-of-your-satin-underwear, back to stovies. Along the same timeline shirts had become shorter, belly buttons were first exposed and then adorned with jewellery; a plumbers-cleavage is not extraordinary; and among the more daring we’ve seen the rich and famous parade in outfits that makes me blush.

The reason I am sharing this (and exposing my own subjectivity on the topic) is to expose the natural inclination of humanity’s ability to create, evolve and adapt. The ability to see anything through from just an idea in our minds to standing with a completed product is a gift from our Creator. We can achieve and change anything we really want. Within this incredible gift, we will find ourselves coming face to face with certain parameters set in place by the same Creator who gave us free reign in living our lives. The way in which we plan, create, assemble and interact is totally dependent on us. Fashion trends is merely one expression of our creativity.

But fashion, like anything else we conceive and make a part of our everyday lives, is an external expression of an internal motivation. So, in a sense, the way we present ourselves to the world (our society) reflects what is happening on the inside of us. We are all able to differentiate between a confident go-getter and someone who is depressingly down-and-out. We don’t unnecessarily cast a judgment, or judge a book by its cover, but little things do show.

Could it be that our fashion sense and fashion choice reflect a deeper state of our souls? And if it does, what is the message that we are sending out to those with whom we interact every day? What does that say for the role models who oversee shaping our ideas (in a sense the “fashionable” way of doing things) within our culture? Here’s the clincher: are you a follower or trendsetter?

Could we perhaps apply our fashion sense to our spiritual fashion? "It was faith that immersed you into Jesus, the Anointed One, and now you are covered and clothed with his anointing" (Galatians 3:27)

Never let go of the trust you have in God's eternal Word

No Drifting Away

ANDRÉ & JENNY ROEBERT

We are certainly living in exciting times aren't we! Did you notice how nothing is really as it seems? This world can be unpredictable and full of so many inconsistencies. But there is something that is constant and secure and will always produce and provide exactly what it has promised - the irrevocable Word of God!

Without the Word of God to stand on, we have nothing that is lasting and never-changing. So, never let go of the trust you have in God's eternal Word. If you have been tempted to let your time in the Word take a little bit of a back seat to accommodate the busy schedule you have going on in your life - don't do it!

Hebrews 2:1 "Therefore we must give the more earnest heed to the things we have heard, lest we drift away." (NKJ) "It's crucial that we keep a firm grip on what we've heard so that we don't drift off." (MSG)

Two things stand out - firstly, we are urged to increase our attention to the Word of God, and keep a firm grip on what it teaches us; secondly, if we don't prioritise God's Word in our lives, we will drift away from the very truth that has the power to keep our hearts and minds anchored and steadfast in peace and joy and well-being!

Hebrews 4:11 "So let's keep at it and eventually arrive at the place of rest, not drop out through some sort of disobedience." (MSG)

When we decide to labour, be diligent, or be zealous and exert ourselves, to enter that place of rest, it doesn't mean physically working or even struggling to get God to do something. It means not being casual about the Word. It means spending time with God, in His Word as a priority and a vital necessity for our lives. We must consistently pay attention to God's wisdom and do what it says we should do, while holding securely onto His promises. The Bible says that by doing this, we will enter a place of rest. The rest the Word is talking about, is a place of absolute confidence and peace, where we have no doubt that the Lord will do exactly what He has promised to do. We don't worry, doubt or fret over anything, because we are securely rooted in Him, placing our trust in what His Word says. Oh, the peace and joy that floods our souls when we have this awesome assurance! We are His and He is completely in control - because we have His Word on it!

Managing Anger So It Doesn't Manage You

JOYCE MEYER

When we attended the 10-year anniversary celebration of Mercy Multiplied in the St. Louis, Missouri area, one of the young ladies who graduated from the program shared an eye-opening testimony. She said that her father committed suicide when she was a teenager and the pain of that situation led her to start drinking and taking drugs. When she realized her life was falling apart, she went to Mercy Multiplied for help.

The thing that really struck me was when she shared that as she went through the program, she came to realize that her problem started at the time her father committed suicide because it made her angry that he took his life and left their family. She couldn't get well and overcome her addiction to drugs and alcohol until she got over being angry with him.

Many times we have issues in our lives because we're angry about something but we don't know it. I believe that for many people, the root of their problem is due to the fact that they are angry at God because their lives haven't turned out right, or they are angry with someone who has hurt them. They may even be angry at themselves for some reason.

The word "anger" is one letter away from "danger." Benjamin Franklin is quoted as saying, "Whatever is begun in anger ends in shame," and "Anger is never without a reason, but it seldom has a good one." It's so important for us to be aware of any anger issues we have because they can become dangerous and create damage in our lives.

OUR ANGER EPIDEMIC

We live in an angry society, and we see the effects of it in problems like road rage, which has surged over the last few years. I recently researched statistics on anger and discovered that an estimated 1 out of 5 Americans has an anger management problem. According to an article I read in Newsweek, people are coming out in droves asking for help with anger management. Enrollment in anger management classes is booming and the demand for counselors is at an all-time high.

The Holy Spirit is the ultimate anger management Counselor! Jesus says in John 14:26 (AMP), "But the Helper (Comforter, Advocate, Intercessor—Counselor, Strengtheners, Standby), the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name...He will teach you all things." We can be confident that when we go to God, He will give us the help we need to face the truth about ourselves and overcome our problems.

WHAT ANGER LOOKS LIKE

Dallas Willard, who was a professor of philosophy at the University of Southern California for 47 years and a best-selling Christian author, defines anger as "a feeling that seizes us in our body and immediately impels us toward interfering with, and possibly even harming, those who have thwarted our will and interfered with our life.” He also says, “Anger will evoke anger on the other side.” In other words, one person’s anger feeds another person’s anger.

Whatever is begun in anger ends in shame

We all get opportunities to be angry. You may not be the kind of person who gets road rage, but you may still get angry over what the Bible calls “trifling (ill-informed, unedifying, stupid) controversies over ignorant questionings” that “foster strife and breed quarrels” (2 Timothy 2:23 AMPC).

I wasted so many years of my life being angry about things that didn’t really matter and trying to control people I was never going to be able to control. The truth is, there is nothing better than peace! And God’s peace in our soul equals power in our lives. So, if you want more power and energy in your life, you can’t be angry all the time.

FIND FREEDOM FROM ANGER

In order to be free from anything, we have to face truth and take responsibility for our behavior. Blaming other people or circumstances and making excuses never changes anything.

John 8:31-32 teaches us that if we abide in Christ, continually obeying His teachings, we will know the truth and the truth will set us free! I want to encourage you to go to God first when you are angry. Tell Him honestly how you feel and make a determined decision to forgive. There is no sense wasting your life being angry about something that happened years ago – or even something that happened earlier today.

Take a few moments and pray something like this: “I need Your help, Lord, to deal with my anger. I thank You that because of Your love, grace, mercy and the power of the Holy Spirit in my life, I don’t have to act on those foolish feelings that can cause problems in my life and hurt me and others.”

Spend time quietly waiting on God with an open heart to hear what He has to say to you. Study what His Word says about anger and being angry. And trust Him to help you make some positive, healthy changes that will bring more of His peace and power into your life.

Sleeping on the job

*We need to obey Jesus
the first time*

ANGUS BUCHAN

Let's look at the Bible. In the Gospel of Mark 14, Jesus went to the Garden of Gethsemane to pray to His Heavenly Father. He said to His disciples Peter, James and John in verse 34-35 (NKJV), "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death. Stay here and watch." He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him. We see here that the Lord Jesus Christ was fighting the battle of His life. He went to pray to the Father and upon His return, found the disciples sleeping. He further said to them "Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." (Mark 14:38, NKJV)

Are we still sleeping and resting? That is the question the Lord asked His disciples in verse 41, after He had come the third time to find them sleeping and resting. I want to say, with great sadness in my heart, that many members of the church are sleeping! We are not watching and praying as we should. We are living in the last days and people are desperate for the truth; we do not have time left on this earth to be told the same things multiple times before we listen.

We need to obey Jesus the first time.

After the Lord awakened the disciples for the third time, the enemy was already in their midst. There is an old saying, which is actually very true, "The road to hell, is paved with good intentions." Often we make plans: tomorrow I will do this, tomorrow I will do that; but remember the thief comes only to steal, to kill and to destroy (John 10:10). But Jesus came to give us an abundant life, but that requires hard work. Rolling up our sleeves and being sensitive to what the Lord has called us to do.

There were ten virgins who took their lamps and waited for the bridegroom to come, but only five were ready (wise) while the other five were slack (foolish). Just before the bridegroom came, the five foolish virgins realized they didn't have enough oil in their lamps and asked the wise to help them, but they couldn't because they didn't have enough to share. So the foolish went off to buy some oil and, while they were buying oil, the bridegroom came and closed the door. They foolish virgins were left outside. (Matthew 25:1-13)

As a farmer, I know that there is a time for planting and a time for reaping. If we are slack with our planting, the season gets underway and we cannot get our tractors and our implements into the ground because it is too wet. On the other hand, if we also take too long to harvest our crop, we find the spring rains come and they spoil the crop. Similarly, in the Word of God, there is no excuse for laziness or for sleeping on the job! In the Book of Proverbs 24:30-34 (NKJV), "I went by the field of the lazy man, and by the vineyard of the man devoid of understanding; and there it was, all overgrown with thorns; its surface was covered with nettles; its stone wall was broken down. When I saw it, I considered it well; I looked on it and received instruction: a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest; so shall your poverty come like a prowler, and your need like an armed man." In other words, there is no future for a man that sleeps on the job!

A good farmer will never be found sitting in his house drinking coffee, during the middle of the day, when his workers are out working by themselves.

When I was a young man, an old farmer told me not to drive around the edge of my maize crop but to stop the pickup, get out and walk through the field every single day. Walk through one way and then walk through it the other way, checking it out from the inside-out. He further asked me if I checked my cattle every day and, of course, I said yes; to which he remarked, "Well you should check your crop every day too and every day you will find something that needs to be seen too. Maybe an area where the fertilizer has not worked, or maybe another area where there are excessive weeds, and it all needs to be sorted out so that you can have a bumper crop." The man who sits in his pickup and drives around his farm, never ever getting out, is a lazy man. His days are numbered, because he's only inspecting the outside and neglecting the inside where most of the crop is growing!

So, as Jesus asked His disciples to watch and pray, lest they enter into temptation because the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak; as Christians, you and I need to be disciplined – both spiritually and physically. We need to eat, sleep and exercise well. We need to do everything as unto the Lord and He will lead us into the victory that is already ours!

BEYOND ADVENTURE

GAP YEAR OF
YOUR LIFE

FULL & HALF YEAR OPTIONS

NOW AVAILABLE !

JANUARY - JUNE | JULY - NOVEMBER

THE CONCEPT OF 'EXTREME EDUCATION' WAS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE A CHALLENGING ENVIRONMENT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TO DISCOVER AND DEVELOP THEIR LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL

What makes your programme extreme and adventurous?

We offer students a wide range of extreme activities to participate in such as: sky diving, bungee jumping, scuba diving, mountain biking, abseiling, kayaking etc.

What is the value of a gap year programme?

A gap year gives young people time to reflect on what they think would be the college/varsity or career choice best suited to their needs. It allows them to clarify their interests and become aware of their strengths and weaknesses.

We also believe a gap year allows them to take advantage of learning that takes place outside the classroom and apply these skills in real life situations, within a protected environment. It is imperative that youths experience life in communities different from those in which they have been living and our extreme gap year programme offers them this experience. We further believe that gap years allow students to learn about a variety of careers before making a critical decision and to gain maturity, initiative and resourcefulness, all valuable life skills.

What outcome do you hope is achieved in every student's life once completing your programme?

Our programme is designed to meet, challenge and grow the complete individual, body, soul and spirit, as we train tomorrow's leaders today. Our desire is for the young person to have fun and 'discover themselves' as they are developed into a person with vision and purpose. We endeavour to take boys and girls and to mould them into young men and women that will have a positive influence on our society and the world.

Describe how the programme works - when is your intake, how long does it last and how much does it cost?

The Beyond Adventure Extreme Leadership Gap Year Programme was launched in 2001. We are located 100 kilometres north east of Port Elizabeth in Alicedale. We are situated close to some of the great game reserves such as Addo Elephant Park and Shamwari. Our programme runs from the last week in January till the middle of November. The students are accommodated in rooms where they will learn to live with three other students. Cost enquires and further info can be obtained from our offices as well as our website www.beyondadventure.co.za, under the download section.

What makes your programme unique as opposed to other Gap year courses?

We believe the Beyond Adventure concept to be unique in South Africa. The concept of 'Extreme Education' was designed to provide a challenging environment for young people to discover and develop their leadership potential. Leadership deals with direction, vision, purpose and principles and our leadership programme focuses on building the students up, making them aware of other cultures, helping them with emotional bank account building and strengthening them as individuals functioning in a group context.

Most importantly, we run a programme that is founded on Biblical principles with Jesus Christ as the foundation stone.

Freelancers

How To Build A Creative Career

PHIL COOKE

Being based in Los Angeles allows me an up close look at freelancers of all kinds. From Hollywood, the advertising industry, web companies, production companies and more, I'm able to work with and study a wide range of creative professionals on a daily basis. Some last and others don't, and few people can put their finger on why some achieve success and others fail. But if you're a freelancer in any creative field, here's what I've discovered that – regardless of talent – makes a powerful difference in building a long career:

1. Find Your Ultimate Niche – In my experience, the vast majority of career freelancers aren't doing what they actually came to Hollywood to do. Over a career, actors become casting directors, a director becomes the media person for a local church or non-profit, camera operators become grips, musicians become agents, designers become executives – the list is endless. It doesn't mean your dream can't be accomplished, but if necessary, be ready to change horses in the middle of the stream. It's not about “settling” as much as adjusting to the marketplace. The industry changes, styles change, technology changes, so don't become so locked into a single job that you refuse to adapt to new opportunities.

2. Constantly Question Your Purpose – Another way to put it is to “keep asking why”. Why am I doing this in the first place? I drive our team at Cooke Pictures crazy because I'm constantly asking why we exist and what that means for us and our clients. Never get complacent, because creative challenges never end. What's the ‘why’ for you? Are you doing this for money? To help others? To find significance? There are plenty of potential answers, and no one can decide but you and God. But after writing my book “One Big Thing: Discovering What You Were Born to Do”, I can tell you that finding your purpose will be the most motivating and satisfying thing a creative person can do for a long term career.

3. Keep Learning – Gain expertise in your field. Become an authority in an area. One of the best ways to stand out and get noticed is to be the best in a particular job, task, or niche. Why should I hire you over someone else? How much more do you know about your field than you did last year? If you're not growing you're shrinking, and nobody wants to hire someone based on what their talent used to be.

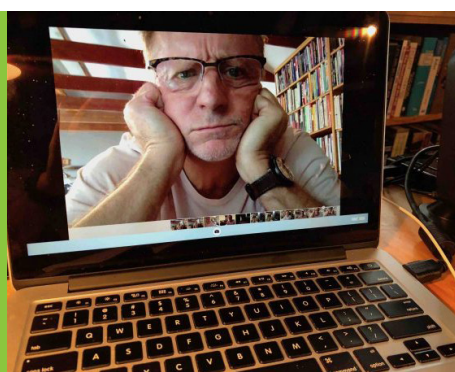

4. Constantly evaluate what value you bring to your employer – Your “employer” might be a studio, advertising agency, TV station or network, web company, digital studio, nonprofit, or all of the above. Just because you're a “freelancer” doesn't mean you don't have a boss – in fact, you now have multiple bosses. What's the value you're bringing to each project and client? How are you helping them achieve their goals?

These questions aren't designed for a “once in 5 year evaluation” session – they're designed to be asked weekly – even daily. That's how you'll continue to exist – and prosper – in a freelance world.

Don't be a one hit wonder. Start now planning for a creative career that lasts.

How to Become a Rock Star on Video Conference Calls

Think about your perception

PHIL COOKE

How you frame your camera makes a difference!

We've all been on video conference calls and we've all seen weird camera shots of participants. But most conference calls are in a business or professional context, so we need to give more thought to how we're seen on those calls. From the way you set up your camera, are you perceived as a confident, professional leader? Is your shot pleasing to watch as you speak? Are there distractions that keep me from hearing your message? While I've seen plenty of odd camera shots during conference calls, I thought I'd set up a few of the most common mistakes people make with a few comments on why they're killing you. Let me know if you've seen anyone do these:

1. When the Shot is Too Close: When you get too close to your computer camera, it distorts your face – especially your nose. Mine is big enough already, so I prefer to sit back at a better distance from the computer. Consider the other people on the call. This is a horrifying face to look at for an hour or so. So always remember to never sit too close to the camera.

2. When There Are People in The Background: The conference call is about YOU, not the other people in the office. This is an especially big problem if you work from home. Make sure your wife, kids, or dogs aren't running around in the background, distracting from what you're saying and being generally annoying for everyone else watching. (And thanks to my lovely wife and conference call model Kathleen...)

3. When there's An Inappropriate Background: I've actually been on video conference calls and had people call in from their bedroom desk with an unmade bed in the background. No one is going to take you as a serious professional with bed behind your head. Think about what kind of background will be more professional and better environment for the call.

4. When there's Bad Framing: On a video conference call, people want to see YOU, not everything else in the office! Plus, in most cases, they see your shot as a small frame, so you need to be bigger in that frame to get your message across.

5. When it's Too Dark: I shouldn't have to say much about this, but you won't believe the number of people who don't think about the lighting. I want to see your eyes and expression, so either turn on the lights, open a window, or find a better location.

6. When you're Not Looking at the Camera! I know you want to see the other people on your call, but when you speak on the call, do your best to look at the actual camera lens on your computer or phone. Otherwise, it looks like you're talking to your keyboard.

7. Think about the framing! Here's a shot I often use on conference calls. My head is in the upper third of the screen so it feels more natural. You can see my bookshelves, so people know it's from my office. And I can control the lighting because I'm between a window and some track lighting that I can aim.

One more thing...

Make sure the camera lens is eye level or slightly above. You don't want people looking up at your neck and chin because you're sitting higher than the camera. Likewise, if the camera is too high, you look diminished and small – not the confident, authoritative perception you want. Keep it line of sight or just slightly above.

Next time you schedule a conference call, think about your perception. It's a media driven world, so your clients, co-workers, vendors, and associates will make a lot of assumptions from the camera angle and framing you choose.

REVIVAL TODAY

TUESDAYS TO FRIDAYS
AT 19H30-20H00

WITH JONATHAN SHUTTLESWORTH

Evangelists Jonathan and Adalis Shuttlesworth have been preaching The Gospel full-time since May 2002. Revival Today; a ministry dedicated to reaching those that have never heard the gospel of Jesus Christ was launched in 2007. Revival Today's heartbeat is for the lost. "The nations of the world are overripe for Revival - and we are determined to be a great part of it!"

BUILDING CHAMPIONS

SUNDAYS AT 16H00-16H30

WITH KENNETH ULMER

We are a Bible-based, Spirit-led extension of the body of Christ located in the heart of Inglewood, CA. Our ministry is led by integrity and compassion, as we work to impact the world for the Kingdom of God. At our church, we believe in Building Champions for Divine Deployment - Champions of all ages, races, and walks of life. We are a church with a heart for the hurting - so come as you are and experience a powerful word from God!

unNATURAL MOM

FRIDAYS AT 18H30-19H00

WITH HETTIE BRITZ

Parenting expert and self-proclaimed unnatural mom Hettie Brittz helps you recognize how unrealistic our culture's standards of mothering are; move beyond the myths of "supermom"; complete a profile to determine your own parenting style; understand and forgive the mothers who hurt you; and embrace your capabilities as well as your challenges. Come find new hope in discovering that every mother has unique gifts. In Christ, the "unnatural" mom becomes the supernatural mom who is just right for her family!

INSPIRE

WITH MARK SARVER

Pastor Mark has a vision to see the body of Christ unified and to see the Kingdom of God increased exponentially! He has ministered throughout the United States and the world. With over 25 years pastoring a church, Mark continues to take the mission of Church on the Rock - Winning, Teaching and Reaching - to this lost and dying world.

ZACHARIAS CANT TALK

For a long time people had been waiting for God's promised Son. God sent John the Baptist to tell everyone that He was coming soon.

Zacharias was a good man. He loved to pray as he helped in the temple at Jerusalem, but he was sad because he had no children.

One day, while he was busy in the temple, the angel Gabriel suddenly appeared in front of him, with a message from God.

"You and your wife Elisabeth will soon have a baby boy. You must call him John," said the angel. "This can't be true," said Zacharias.

"We are too old to have a child." "To show that God sent me," said the angel, "You will not be able to talk until the baby is named John."

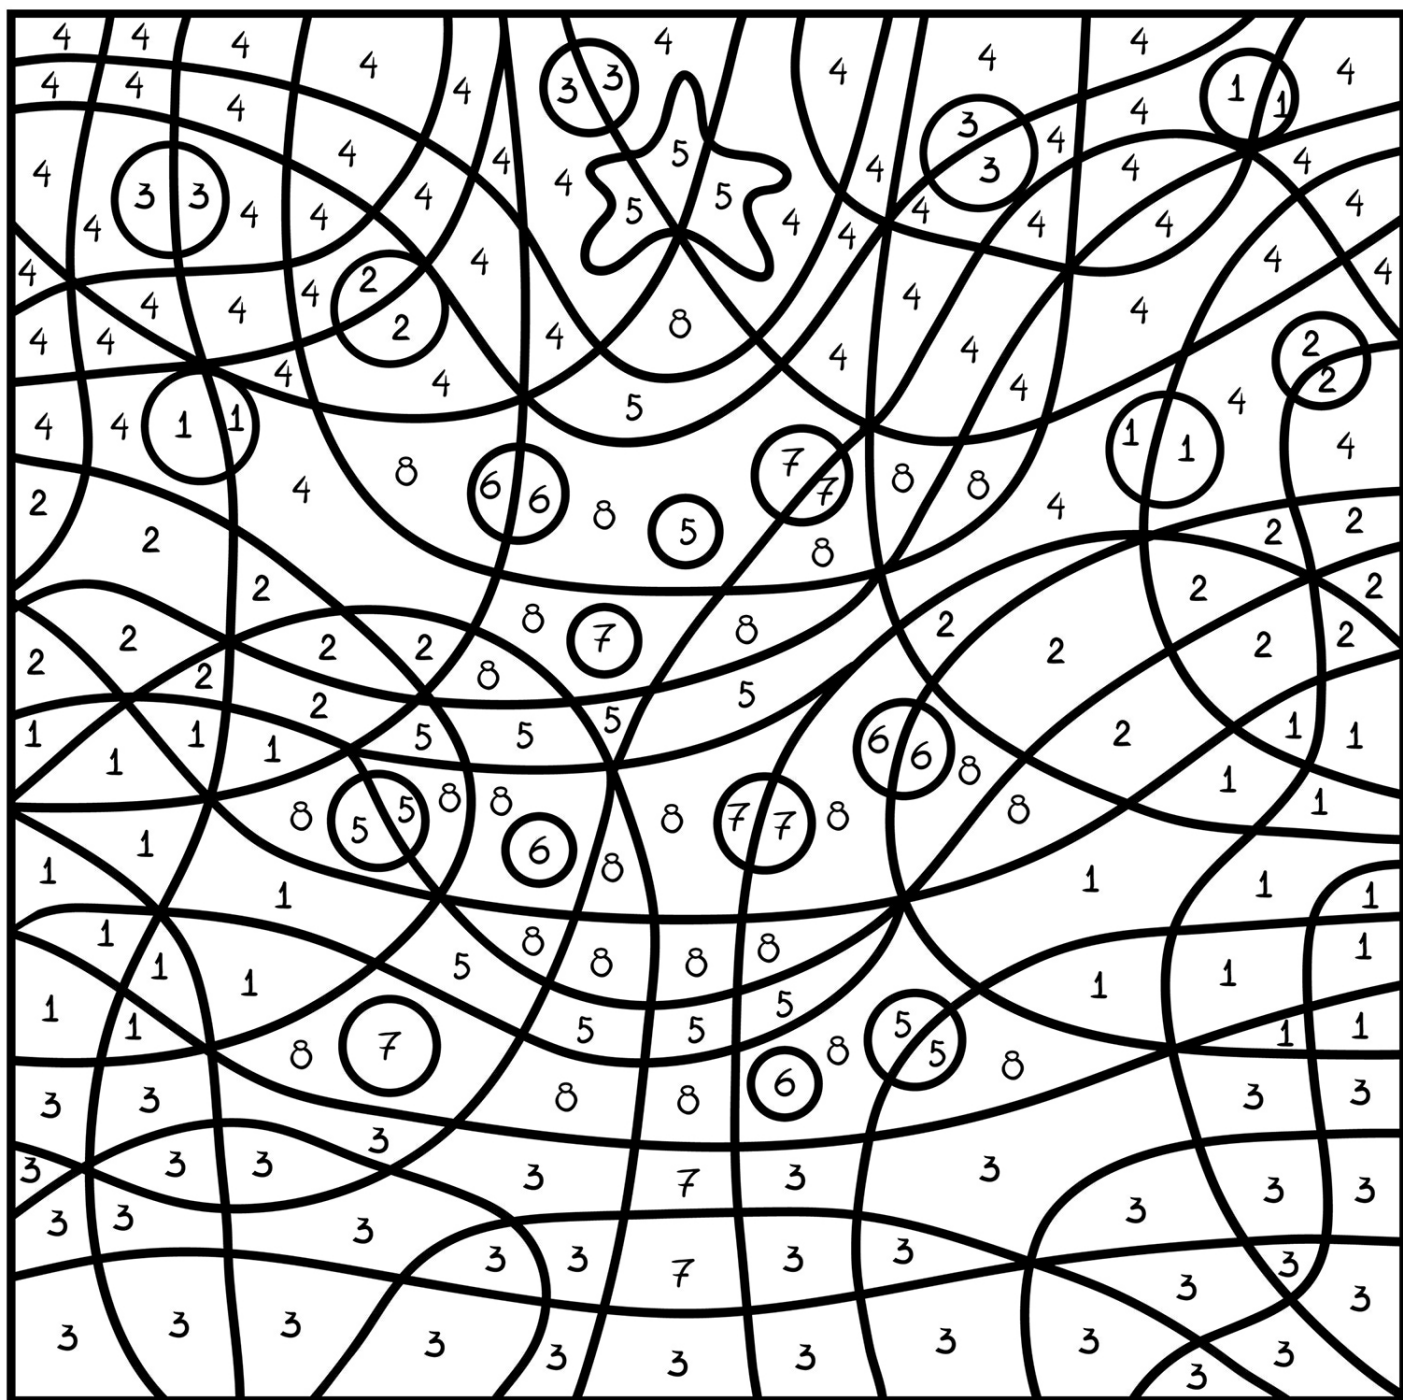

When Elisabeth was six months pregnant her cousin Mary came to visit her. As Mary called out, Elisabeth's baby, in her tummy, was so happy he began to jump.

And, just as the angel had said, Zacharias could not talk until after his baby was born. "His name is John," said Zacharias.

Zacharias and Elisabeth's baby, was Jesus' cousin, John the Baptist, who came to tell everyone to get ready because God's Son was coming soon.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.
